

Supporters Can Pass Rights Bill, Rayburn Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Rayburn said today civil rights supporters can easily get a bill through Congress before session's end if they really want it.

But the Texas Democrat leader Knowland of California said he is "getting a little fed up" with Democratic talk that Republicans have pressed civil rights legislation for political advantage.

Knowland told the Senate his party has a record on this issue over the years which "more than favorably compares with that of the other party."

The Senate-passed civil rights bill differs in major respects from one passed earlier by the House. It is now up to the House to decide whether to go along with the Senate bill or seek a compromise.

Contention centers on the Senate amendment to guarantee jury trials for defendants accused of criminal contempt in all federal courts.

Rayburn said moves are possible when the House reconvenes tomorrow to agree to the Senate version or to seek a narrowing of the jury trial amendment to voting rights only, as Rayburn favors. But he noted these actions would require unanimous consent, and he said someone is sure to object.

Therefore, he said, the more likely procedure is to have the bill sent to the Rules Committee, which could then clear the measure for a House-Senate conference by majority vote.

Leading House Democrats were trying to line up support for acceptance of the Senate version of the bill, or a possible compromise that would limit the scope of a Senate jury trial amendment to voting rights cases only.

House Republican leaders, meanwhile, worked to get the bill sent to a Senate-House conference. It hopes it could be strengthened and some features objectionable to the Eisenhower administration removed.

Most Southerners continued in opposition to any kind of a civil rights bill. Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) yesterday called it "purely a political bill" which he said would only inflame racial tensions.

Both Senate and House bills would give the attorney general new powers to seek federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of voting rights. Any person violating such an injunction could be prosecuted for contempt of court.

Under present practice, federal judges try violators of court injunctions without juries. But the Senate wrote in a requirement that anybody charged with criminal contempt should be tried by jury.

Six Drownings Raise Week's Deaths to 16

By The Associated Press

Six drownings during the week end raised the violent death toll in Arkansas to 16 for the period which ended midnight Sunday.

Seven persons died in traffic accidents, one when struck by a train, one in a fire and one from a gunshot wound.

All the drownings reported last week occurred over the weekend. Two boys slipped away from their home in the Red Oak Community near Hot Springs yesterday morning were found drowned a few hours later in nearby Lake Hamilton.

Deputy Sheriff Fred Miller said Billy Dais, 9, and his brother, Jerry, 3, apparently fell off their pony while crossing a narrow neck of the lake.

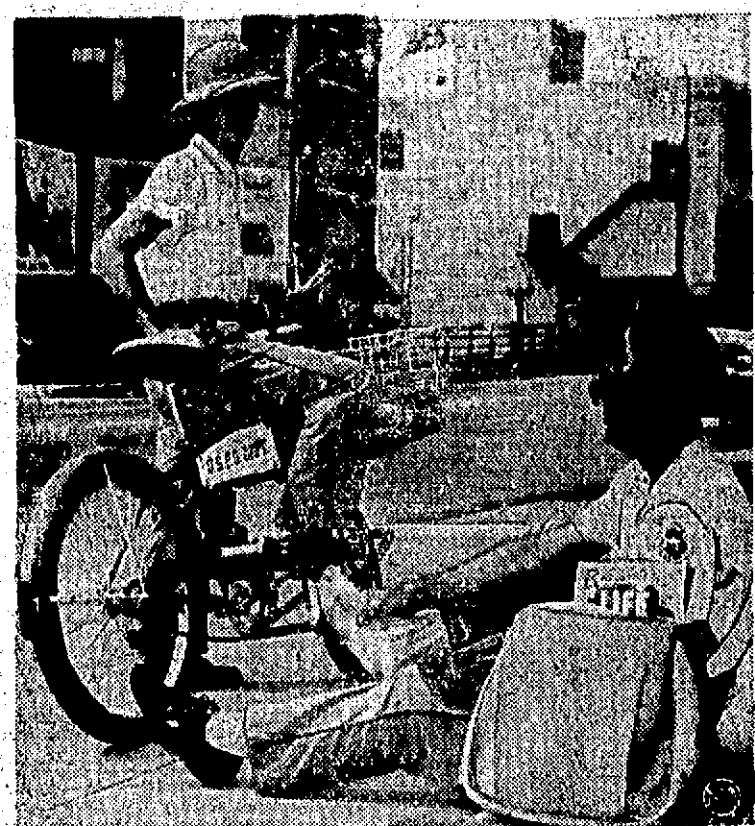

The victims were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Dais.

Marlin Gobel, 14, drowned yesterday in the Black River near the northeast Arkansas town of Brookings when he slipped from his inner tube in a swift current. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gobel of Brookings.

On Saturday, Roy Kagen, about 40, of Newport, drowned in Eagle Lake near Newport. Deputy Sheriff Allen Woodruff said Kagen decided to remain in the lake when his three fishing companions went home.

A 16-year-old Negro prisoner from the Mississippi Penitentiary Farm drowned while swimming in Buffalo River near Manila. The victim was William Boyd of Bay, Ark.

A third person who drowned Saturday was W. J. Ford, 37, of De Witt. Said to be a carpenter, he was fishing near De Witt when he lost his life. He was found by a fisherman named Bayou Mito. The drowning reached shore early.

Hope Dimes for Rescuing Climbers

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland (AP) — Hope of rescuing three men trapped on the north wall of Eiger Mountain faded today as fresh blizzards swirled around the vertical rock face.

The rescue attempt was interrupted by new snows yesterday after a fourth member of the climbing party was hauled to the summit in a daring Alpine feat.

The only climber whose position is known to the rescuers is Stefano Longhi, 44, of Lecco, Italy. Longhi was injured in a rock fall several days ago. He has remained dangling from a rope some 300 feet below the ledge where the others had been sheltering 1,200 feet from the summit of the 13,036-foot peak.

He was reportedly still alive yesterday.

Influenza Outbreak Aboard a Ship

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Health Department said today it has been advised that there has been an influenza outbreak with approximately 100 cases — aboard the ship Arosa Sky due here tomorrow from Rotterdam with more than 800 foreign students.

A spokesman said the department did not know whether the ailment was the Asiatic flu.

The goal of British-led native forces was achieved peacefully yesterday when they swept into Nizwa, for four weeks capital of the rebellious Imam of Oman.

Imam Ghalib ben Ali, religious leader of the mountain people who sought an independent state, was believed to have fled to the Izki area east of Nizwa.

Sam Pope Brewer, New York Times correspondent reporting for the American press from the column that took Nizwa, radioed that the Imam and his firebrand younger brother Tahir were believed to be with Chief Suleiman bin Hayman, another leader of the revolt.

After being held up two days at Firat on the approaches to Nizwa, Tahir and his brother were captured by British troops under Brig. J. A. H. Repington captured Firat at dawn yesterday.

Brewer said what appeared to be American-style hand grenades were found in rebel strongpoints at Firat. The find strengthened suspicions that the Imam has been supported by Saudi Arabia, which receives American military aid.

Nizwa leaders surrendered to the advancing troops. Brewer said in each village occupied so far, leaders have assured the Sultan's forces that inhabitants were completely loyal but were intimidated by small bands of armed tribesmen.

'Housecleaning' Main Topic of AFL-CIO Session

CHICAGO (AP) — Top labor leaders went into a conference today to consider housecleaning and other problems.

The 29-member AFL-CIO executive Council met in the Drake Hotel.

The session was closed to press and public. But President George Meany arranged to hold a news conference afterwards.

No agenda was announced before the meeting began, but sometime during the four-day party the group is expected to receive interim reports on corruption in some unions from the organization's ethical practices committee.

The AFL-CIO chiefs met while the Senate committee investigating labor-management practices resumed its hearings in Washington.

There was no pre-session comment from the Chicago conferees on reports that some labor leaders were urging a shift in AFL-CIO policy from cooperation with the Senate committee to opposition to the committee.

There also was no authoritative advance information as to whether the Executive Council would act against one of its members, Maurice Hutecheson, a vice president of the Carpenters Union.

Hutecheson invoked the Fifth Amendment when he appeared before the Senate Public Works Committee in an investigation of reports that he and others had profited from sale of land to the State of Indiana along the right of way of a projected highway.

The AFL-CIO has a policy against union leaders taking the Fifth Amendment to protect himself.

Two Wrecks in City Leave Two Injured

Two persons were injured in separate automobile accidents here over the weekend, according to City Police.

At 12:15 p.m. Saturday on North Hazel, Mrs. James Morrow suffered a bruised hip when the car which she was driving was involved in a wreck with another driven by Frank Hardwick, 19-year-old local Negro. City police charged Hardwick with having no driver's license.

At 9 p.m. Sunday on Texas street cars driven by Charles Coley, 17-year-old Fulton Negro, and Alva Lee Wyatt collided. A passenger, James Woods, Fulton, was taken to Memorial Hospital by a Herndon-Cornell ambulance where he was treated for facial lacerations. Damage was heavy to both vehicles. City officers charged Coley with failure to yield the right-of-way and with having no state license.

Knowland May Seek Office of Governor

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The expected announcement of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) that he will seek the California governorship may plunge Republicans into a battle over their Senate leadership in the next session.

Knowland has announced he will seek re-election to the Senate next year. He has indicated he intends to hang on to his GOP leader's post, however, until his term ends.

But if he becomes a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor next year, some of his colleagues doubt he will want to be tied down in Washington next spring.

California primary battles usually are a 60-day affair, carried on in April and May before the June test at the polls. This is about the time Congress begins to get busy considering major legislation.

If Knowland were forced to campaign against GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight he would have little time to spend handling his leadership duties at a critical period.

79 Dead in Canada's Worst Plane Disaster

Playful Game Leaves Four Youths Dead

YORK, Pa. (AP) — A playful game of "war" became a real tragedy when a southerly breeze exploded near here killing four boys — two sets of brothers.

Killed in the blast Saturday were Gary, 15, and Joseph Weaver, 10, and Lynn, 10, and Stephen Baker, 9.

An investigation is under way to determine how the boys got the shell.

Police said the blast occurred when Gary climbed a tree near the Weaver home and dropped the shell to the ground. The other three youngsters were killed instantly and Gary died at a York hospital shortly afterwards.

The Weaver boys are believed to have brought the shell home after a visit to their brother, Donald, at Ft. Bragg, N. C. several weeks ago.

Somebody Breaks Bank of Monte Carlo

CANNES, France (UP) — The man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo had a counter-part today. Someone broke the bank at Cannes.

The bank that was broken here was at the plush Palm Beach Casino. "Official mourning" which follows such an event, it was expected to reopen tonight.

The bank of the Palm Beach gambling house, one of two in Cannes and one of many on the Riviera, was broken last week by movie magnates Jack Warner and Darryl Zanuck and several other international tourists.

Gambling circles on the bankrupted Riviera said today the casino had been losing all last week, from Monday to Friday.

Sums won individually by Warner, Zanuck and three others administered the final knockout. They were not gambling together.

All told, the casino went broke when it lost 350 million francs $1,000,000.

The five tourists won 100 million francs. Several other tourists are believed to have taken away the other half million dollars during the week.

But the biggest sums were taken by Jack Warner, who won 40 million francs ($14,255); Zanuck, 20 million francs ($7,142); London Jeweler Bobbie Exner, 20 million francs ($7,142); New York clothing manufacturer Arthur Cole, 20 million francs ($7,142); and a Brazilian coffee grower named Marvin, the biggest winner with 50 million francs ($14,257).

The winners are still on the Riviera. Warner himself, who arrived on the Riviera three weeks ago to stay at his villa, would not discuss reports he lost the sum he won shortly afterwards at the Monte Carlo Casino.

ISSODUN, Que. (AP) — The fuselage of a wrecked Canadian airliner began sinking slowly into a deep, watery swamp today, emptying the task for an investigating team and the rescuers going after the bodies of the 79 dead.

The four-engine DC4 plunged into the swamp during a summer thunderstorm yesterday 15 miles south of Quebec City. The death toll made it Canada's worst air disaster. There were no survivors.

Available evidence pointed to lightning as one possible cause of the mid-afternoon tragedy. The chartered airliner was carrying veterans and their families back to Canada from a vacation with their folks in Britain.

The main portion of the plane's passenger section, the fuselage, was believed stuck in a 25-foot water-filled hole. Dr. Jean-Paul Pihlout, coroner of Lotbiniere County, said the army was being asked to pump it out.

Deputy transport minister John Baldwin said in Ottawa that a major pumping operation may be necessary to clear the way for a three-man investigating team. Craters containing plane sections were filling with water that seeped in from the soggy muskeg.

Baldwin said that Quebec officials have been ordered to spare no expense in bringing out the wreckage.

The biggy crash scene was seen today from photographers and souvenir hunters. Bits of bodies, clothing, personal papers and charred remains of the plane were spread far and wide.

The first body found last night was that of an infant.

The toll of 33 men, 41 women and 5 children, including 6 crew members, surpassed Canada's previous casualty high of 62 persons aboard a plane that crashed last December in the Rockies.

The Maritime Central Airways plane left London for Toronto on a flight chartered by the Imperial Veterans Division of the Canadian Legion's Ontario command.

Many of the men were former British servicemen who had moved to Ontario. They had taken their families for a month visit to their former homes.

The pilot, 37-year-old Norman Ramsay of Montreal, whose flying license had once been suspended on a charge of negligence in a plane crash, stopped in Iceland on the way home.

He brought the plane up the St. Lawrence River valley in sunny weather, making the prescribed radio checks. At 2:07 p.m. he reported passing over Quebec.

Canon Alexandre DeBlair, out visiting sick parishioners at Ste. Croix about five miles from the crash scene, said he saw the plane flying very low when it ran into a summer thunderstorm. Lightning lashed the farm area on the South bank of the St. Lawrence.

"When I returned to Ste. Croix, the nuns who work in the presbytery said they had seen a plane flying very low. Seconds later there had been a frightening blast," the parish priest said.

"They thought it was a highway crash."

There was no 3 p.m. radio report to Montreal, the next check point along the plane's route. For several hours the plane was listed as missing.

Then the pilot of a plane operated by a subsidiary of Maritime sighted burning wreckage. A Royal Canadian Air Force plane from Trenton, Ont., dropped three para-rescue men at the scene. They messaged:

"There are no survivors."

Maritime officials said they had "absolutely no idea of what" Continued on Page Two

Six Balk at Giving Chinese Passports

By STEWART SLAFKEY

MOSCOW (AP)—Six young Americans balked today at turning over their passports to Red Chinese authorities, but still want to make the trip to the Communist land with 42 other Americans.

Fred Grab of Alexandria, Va., who is acting as a collection agent in getting the passports together, said the six preferred not to give the Chinese authorities their documents.

"Instead they put pertinent information on a separate paper," Grab said. "The Chinese said Sunday they must have actual passports and we won't know until tomorrow if these separate papers will do or not."

Grab declined to identify the six Americans. The Americans have been in Moscow for nearly three weeks for a Communist sponsored youth festival. Others in the 150-member U. S. delegation were leaving Moscow today for home or points in Western Europe.

The 18 who are remaining have accepted invitations of the Communist Chinese government to make a tour of the Chinese mainland. U. S. government passports are not issued for traveling there.

The number planning to make the trip increased by one today when Nina Landau and David Hollister, both of New York, put their names on the list. One American, Bob Walz, whose hometown was unavailable, withdrew from the list of those wanting to go and it seemed likely others may withdraw before the main trip to Peking leaves late Wednesday afternoon. There was no reason given for Walz's withdrawal.

The hometowns of 31 China-bound Americans not available previously were given out today. They are:

Almost all the other Americans were placed at other vantage points.

UA Has No Plans for Use of Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—University of Arkansas officials say they have no definite plans on how to use the valuable 40-acre estate given to the school Saturday by Mrs. Kate Cammack.

The pinestudded tract adjoining Cammack Village has an estimated value of $500,000. Mrs. Cammack, a widow, lies in a 100-year-old house in the center of the property.

The deed specifies the university must use the property for educational purposes.

University President John Tyler Caldwell said the schools proposed Graduate Institute of Technology "might eventually" be moved to the estate, which will be known as Cammack Campus.

But Caldwell and other university officials said nothing definite has been decided.

Cool Air in From Canada Drops Mercury

By United Press

A mass of Canadian air settled like a cool saddle on the north central back of the nation early today, causing temperatures to drop 10 to 15 degrees in North Dakota and Minnesota.

Scattered thunderstorms snorted in the Rockies, while a humid blanket of warm air covered the rest of the country from the Rockies to the Eastern Seaboard.

It was a remarkably quiet night on the weather front even though thunderstorms sputtered at random over a wide area, the Plains states, the Gulf area, the Great Lakes region, and in New England. The U. S. Weather Bureau noted that in no bureau across the country was there a report of one-quarter inch of rainfall since early Sunday evening.

The calm followed an active 24 hours in which two inches fell at Miami, Fla., three inches at Cincinnati, Ohio, and about two and a half inches at Mobile, Ala. and Lexington, Ky.

Cooler weather will prevail over the northern third of the country today, scattered showers and thunderstorms coastal area.

Rain is expected later in the day through the Southern and Central Plains states across to the Gulf area but no change in the warm humidity in forecast. The Pacific Coast will enjoy fair skies except for the northwest area where a string of thunderstorms will drizzle into the Rockies.

Six Charged With Fraud Through Mails

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A. B. Shoemaker and six other men, including a Little Rock, Ark., attorney, were indicted during the weekend by a federal grand jury on charges of mail fraud and violation of federal surety laws.

All seven were connected with the now defunct U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co., and its affiliates. Shoemaker is a former U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co. president, who shot himself in the head at his Waco home last year.

The indictment charged six counts of alleged mail fraud, three counts of violation of security and exchange laws and one of conspiracy.

The charge was that the defendants entered into a scheme prior to Dec. 1, 1952, to defraud the investing public by soliciting investments through false and inflated representations of the company's financial strength.

The Little Rock attorney, Willis V. Lewis was served today by the U. S. Marshall's office in the Arkansas capital. He made $3,000 bond later with the district clerk in Little Rock.

The collapse of the 7-million-dollar U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co., and its affiliates in late 1955 was one of the largest insurance failures in Texas history.

Shoemaker's brain was damaged by the bullet wound and he is now in a Waco Veterans Hospital with a child-like mind.

Georgia Governor to Visit Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A "South and Civil Rights" dinner here Aug. 22 will feature Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia as principal speaker.

The Capital Citizens Council is holding the dinner, which a council spokesman said has a dual purpose—"to find out how the state of Georgia will continue to retain its sovereignty" and to raise funds for the council's "publicity and educational" program.

Gov. Orval Faubus and members of the new state Sovereignty Commission have been invited "all white persons" in Arkansas, "all white persons" in Arkansas.

Lewis also was identified as a one-time manager of U. S. Automotive Service, an affiliate of U. S. Trust and Guaranty.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. All-American Boy Doing a Sexy Picture

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What is a red-blooded, all-American boy like David Nelson doing amid the lurid glow in "Peyton Place"?

I hustled out to 20th Century-Fox, where they are filming the controversial (meaning sexy) novel, and put the question to him.

"I'm not sure," he replied blandly. "But it's not so bad, really. I'm still red-blooded and all-American. In fact, I'm the only normal character in the picture."

But what will his parents think of it?

"Oh, them," he replied. "Why, it was their idea that I do it." David's parents are Ozzie and Harriet Nelson, who are about as homey as apple pie and then some. So if they gave the green light, to David's venture into sin-

TV Barred Certain Items for a Time

By CYNTHIA LOWY

NEW YORK (AP)—If television is the great sale medium its merchants claim, most women are applying their roof-on, smear-on, squirt-on deodorants exclusively to their wrists expect when, about to leap into steam cabinets, they apply them to their foreheads.

The reason is, of course, that TV's arbiters of ethics and good taste have declared milady's underarm out of bounds visually, although it is not held to be unmentionable.

Television has persistent groups of articulate critics. Hence, TV men try very hard to exclude material which the TV Code says is "generally regarded as unsuitable conversational topics in mixed social groups."

This effort, combined with the general wording of the code, has resulted in some fascinating interpretations of just what constitutes good taste and proper conversation in mixed groups.

For instance, I don't know how much time you spent in your living room looking at pictures of the human digestive tract. We don't spend much, which is probably the reason I have been assuming lately that it is a series of metal pipes, funnels and hinges, all held together by nuts and bolts.

"We are opposed to clinical diagrams," said one censor for a major network. "But we accept innuendo when they are amated—geometrical or mechanical—illustrations."

This seemed particularly inter-ful cinema, I guess it must be all right.

Matter of fact, this is David's first venture into movies of any kind, discounting "Here Come the Nelsons," which served as virtually a pilot film for the ABC TV series. For the first time, he's playing someone besides David Nelson. He enacts "Tod Carter, a regular guy and boyfriend of the ill-starred Selena, played by Hope Lange."

"I'm anxious to see how this turns out," said David. "It might open up a whole new field."

You'd think that David would need a new field like he needs another Porsche (that's what he drives). Besides "Peyton Place," he's got to make 29 TV films with his family this year. He takes a full-time course (history) major, English minor at the University of Southern California. And he hopes to make the football varsity as a quarterback this year.

Yet he doesn't seem hurried by it all.

"The TV schedule isn't so bad," he commented. "We do six or seven in a row and then lay off for a week to let dad catch his breath. (Ozzie produces and directs). My shooting is in the morning or afternoon, according to when I have classes. When I'm out for the team, they write me out of the script and my brother Rickey carries the load."

"I manage to stay ahead in my studies most of the time, but sometimes it's hard. It's kind of tough to go to the school in the morning, shoot the TV show the rest of the day and have to do the books at night."

DOROTHY DIX

Liquid Asset Pays Naught in Dividends

Dear Dorothy Dix: When I met Chet I knew he was a heavy drinker, but as he grew to love me, he promised to stop drinking. I didn't promise to marry him until his family assured me he had reformed. Now I know they were lying. He never stopped, in spite of all these promises and assurances. After seven years, he still has about four drunken bouts a year—always when it can cause the most humiliation. WILMA T.

Dear Wilma: To palm off a source, his family will go to almost any lengths. To make things easier for them, you were a particularly gullible gal, only too willing to be convinced. Somebody has to be stuck with the problem, and apparently you're "it." Maybe you can fool 'em and make a man out of your liquid asset. Join a family group of Alcoholics Anonymous. They'll give you help, understanding and a chance to discuss your problem with others in the same boat.

Dear Dorothy Dix: When Keith and I married we moved a thousand miles from my family, but quite near his. I haven't seen my folks in over a year and would like to visit them this fall. Keith refuses, saying my place is with him. I love him very much and hate to see him unhappy. Should I forget about seeing my parents or should he let me go? He's 21, I'm 18.

Dear Winnie: Two weeks is a long time for a young husband to be left alone. Added to the sorrows of missing you, will be menials to prepare, dishes to wash, shirts to find and toothpaste to buy. It is indeed a daunting prospect. Can't your folks come to see you? That would really be a better arrangement, practically as well as financially for you.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a widow with three children. I've been going with a boy for three years and we love each other. However, we have so many arguments that we've broken wedding plans several times. Our quarrels are usually about my children.

Dear Queenie: A "boy" is scarcely a proper husband for the mother of three youngsters. Your laddie is so obviously unfit to take on the responsibilities of a ready-made family that I'm astonished you'd even consider him in the role. If you want him in the family adopt him; don't marry him.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm engaged to be married when I finish high school next year. I love my fiancé but when I admit that his kisses don't give me "butterflies," my friends are shocked. They claim I don't love him. I think they're foolish. Who is right?

Saenger to Have a Stage Show Aug. 13

The folks of Hope and surrounding area are in for a delightful and entertaining evening Tuesday August 13th when "Suggie" Smith and the Rock 'N Roll Stars from the Big T Jamboree appear on the stage of the Saenger Theatre for a one hour show. Stage time is 8:30 p.m.

Suggie was born in Texarkana, Texas and is extremely popular with the people of that area. He has an original approach to country and western melodies, with a style capable of turning out hit Rock 'N Roll tunes as well. He has one record selling now, "You Put Me Down" and "Boogie Rock."

Playing with Suggie and also from Texarkana are Brynn Turnage and Skipper Wormington. Bryn has always been keenly interested in music and has a style taking him to the top of the music world. Carl Wallace Wormington, better known as Skipper, is a boy who delivers a Rock 'N Roll song, a ballad or a country and western song that leaves the audience screaming. Skipper began playing at the age of 8 and was already owner of his own guitar. It's said that trying to hold Skipper down is like trying to hold back a tornado. There is no doubt that Skipper with all his talent, personality and keen sense of humor will soon be a headliner in any kind of entertainment.

The other member of the band to appear with Suggie is Tom Blackmon, a 17 year old boy from DeWitt, Arkansas. Tom's smooth singing and guitar picking is really something to hear and he is also a songwriter and accomplished where he learned to walk for the first time without the use of crutches.

Ferraro sent pictures of the boy to his impoverished parents in Italy.

"Mrs. Chiusano wrote to me," said Ferraro, "she said that when she saw the picture of her boy standing without the crutches, she fainted."

Michael said he felt "wonderful," but didn't like the idea of leaving America. "I'm going to miss all the things I never had before," he said.

At a farewell dinner given in the boy's honor—and attended by 200 persons—Michael, through the tears, could say only "I thank you all. I thank Waterbury. And I never will forget America."

Negro Singer Sounds Off on Many Subjects

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Harry Belafonte, the sensational Latin singer and actor, has been sounding off on a number of subjects lately. Does this mean he aims to be a controversialist?

"No," he claimed. "I don't seek controversy. But it is thrust upon me. Because I am in the public eye, I am naturally asked some hot questions. I can either say 'no comment' or I can speak my mind. I see no reason for not speaking my mind."

His opinions are firm, and he expresses them quickly and strongly.

About his current picture—"It was poorly written and poorly directed, considering the caliber of talent that did it."

About playing the South—"I'm not going to do it if violence will result. I don't want to see people's heads knocked together. But if it means that the next day Negro and white children could go to school together, I'd sing there."

About TV bigwigs—"They have no vision, no imagination."

About Georgia—"I don't care if it secedes from the Union."

An outspoken fellow, you can see. He has reached the top and is obviously enjoying it. But there is little that is frivolous about Belafonte. His seriousness belies the gay, carefree performance he gives onstage.

His future appears unlimited. He can write his own ticket with the film studios, and his appearances are sold out wherever he plays. He recently signed a record deal with RCA-Victor to bring him at least $100,000 yearly for the next 10 years.

How did this 30-year-old singer come so far so fast?

I tried to analyze it as I watched him perform under the cool California sky at the Greek Theatre.

1. He is an immensely attractive performer. His face has a beauty that remains masculine. You sense about him a feeling of reserve power.

2. That power explodes when he starts singing. He is a superb actor who can do anything with his bland, persuasive voice. He brings showmanship and sincerity to his work.

musician as well. "Rock It Baby" and "Louisiana Baby" are two of Tom's songs who formed his own band in 1955 known as the "Stump Jumpers."

All of the boys appear enoch Saturday night on the Big T Jamboree in Texarkana. On the screen Tuesday night will be Alan Ladd in "Whispering Smith."

Muncie Winner in Speedboat Classic

SEATTLE (AP) — Bill Muncie, a small man with a heavy load on the throttle, drove Miss Thriftway to her second successive Gold Cup victory yesterday in the 50th annual of the speedboat classic—and set a record in the process.

Winning two of the 30-mile heats and finishing second in the final car-shattering dash around the 3-mile course, Muncie averaged 101.983 miles per hour for the full 90 miles.

The former Gold Cup record, set on this Lake Washington 10th course in 1953, was 99.552 miles per hour logged by the Gale V. of Detroit. The Gale, entirely rebuilt, finished in sixth place yesterday.

People estimated a half million people watched from shorelines and leisure boats.

U. S. Again Wightman Cup Winner

SEWICKLEY, Pa. (AP) — The United States celebrated another Wightman Cup victory today as its 21st straight since 1930 — but tenis people hailed a big gawky
British girl as the future queen of the courts.

She is Christine Truman, a freckle-faced lass of 16 who two-ers close to six feet and who whacks a tennis ball with the ferocity of a man.

"She has great potential," said
Maureen (Little mo) Connolly, former women's tennis champion who reported America's 61st rout of the British in the latest cup series. "I don't see how she can miss."

Mrs. Mary Hardwicke Hare, one of Britain's rewar stars, and Margaret Osborne du Pont, captain of the U.S. team, were others to predict a champion's role for the towering Christine, possibly within the next two years.

Miss Truman, a surprise semifinalist at Wimbledon this year, lost both her singles matches but left the impression in her first American appearance that she cannot be denied future greatness.

Wimbledon champion, Althea
Gibson beat Christine yesterday
6-4, 6-2 as Mrs. Dorothy Head Gibson of Forest Hills, N.Y., had outstayed her day before in the American near-sweet.

In other matches on the final day, Mrs. Knobe scored the clinching triumph over Shirley Bloomer,
British top player, 5-7, 6-1.
6-2; Ann Haydon, 18-year-old British left-hander, upset Darlene Hard, Montebello, Calif., the Wimbledon finalist, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4; and the veteran, "Doubles" team of Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., and Margaret du Pont, Winnington, Del., won over Miss Haydon and Ann Shilcock 6-4, 6-1.

The West unit includes: Pat
Foster of Emerson, John Gutlin of Sheridan, Don Haxel of Siloam
Springs, Billy Jones of El Dorado,

Lay of Mount Vernon, J. P. Le-veley of Dover, Buddy McClinton
